Low Funds on Both Sides Soften Coal Strike Threat

THE ROMAN COURT Priests' Frameup Sought to Make Case Before Pilate

The dramatic story of events leading up to the first Easter is here retold from the Gospels by Frederick C. Grant, D. D., Professor of Bible Theology at Union Theological Seminary, New York. The reference at the end of each installment is to a Gospel account.

By FREDERICK C. GRANT, D. D.
Written for THE AP Feature Service

The palace of the high priest was on the Western hill, and here Jesus was led by Judas and the servants that Thursday night. Peter, one of the disciples, followed, some distance behind, and made his way into the courtyard of the palace.

One after another, witnesses were brought in to testify that Jesus had threatened to destroy the temple. But their testimony did not agree.

It looked as if the priests might not be able to frame any charge after all that would enable them to denounce Jesus and hand him over to the Roman governor, Pilate, for execution.

Like Third Degree
For the "trial" before the high priest amounted to just this:

It was a kind of "third degree," by which a group of Jesus' bitterest enemies, having got him into their power, planned to frame an accusation that would speedily finish him in a regular trial before the Roman Governor.

For if there was one thing Pilate wanted above all, it was peace and order, especially with the city already full of pilgrims and more arriving every day. The priests knew this; and their clever plan was to get Jesus tried by the Governor as an insurrectionist, a revolutionist, a would-be destroyer of the temple.

But their plan required witnesses who could be relied on; and the witnesses, though as they were, could not make their testimony agree. There was apparently no charge that could be expected to hold up in the light of day when Pilate took the case in hand.

Worst of all, for them, Jesus himself refused to say anything. He would not lift a hand or say a word in self-defense, and by his silence he would likewise not incriminate himself.

But at last, as the Gospels tell the story, the high priest arose and asked pointblank: "Are you the Messiah, the Son of the Blessed One?"

Thrice Denied
To this Jesus replied, "I am; and you will see the Son of Man sitting on the right hand of Power (that is, of God), and coming with the clouds of heaven."

This was the admission they wanted. If he could be induced to claim this the next morning before Pilate, his fate was sealed.

And so, their night's work well done, as they supposed, Jesus was handed over to a guard, and the priests went home to rest.

And Peter? All this time he had moved about in the court outside. Taken unawares and seized with fright, he had denied three times over that he knew anything of Jesus, Calilean though he was. At last when dawn drew near and he could hear a cackling crowing somewhere in the distance, he recalled Jesus' prediction that he would thrice deny him before cock-crow; and when he realized what he had done, he broke down and cried bitterly.

"CASH AND CARRY"

Thinks This Policy Will Permit U. S. to Remain
Neutral

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee heard a warning Thursday from Bernard M. Baruch, Wall Street financier and confidant of the late President Wilson, that an economic war against aggressor nations might lead this nation into a military war.

Endorsing the principle of placing arms and ammunition on a "cash and carry" basis with other products when other countries are at war and this country is neutral, Baruch said he believed this could be done without affecting this country's neutrality status.

British Statement
LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons Thursday that a "permanent reciprocal" agreement would replace the present unilateral agreement between Poland and Great Britain for the mutual defense of the two countries.

Chamberlain added: "Pending completion of the permanent agreement, Poland (Polish minister) gave assurances that the Polish government considers themselves under obligation to render assistance to our majesty's government under the same conditions as those in the temporary assurance already given by his majesty's government to Poland."

"The permanent agreement will be designed to assure Great Britain and Poland mutual assistance in the event of any threat direct or indirect to the independence of either."

Defense

PRESCOTT, Ark.—(AP)—Justice W. J. White Wednesday ordered Matthew Porter, 60, held, to the July circuit court term without bond on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting last Saturday of John Minus Holder, 35.

STEPHENS, Ark.—(AP)—Ten business houses were wrecked and several residences damaged by a tornado which ripped through this town Wednesday night, leaving property loss estimated at $50,000.

The damage was largely confined to the business district, where some major buildings were leveled and others so damaged as to be untenable.

Radicals Win in Auto Union Vote

Communists Take 12 of 19
Places on UAW Executive Board

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—(AP)—Twelve Communist-supported candidates won election and control of the 19-member Executive Board of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers Wednesday night.

The pivotal Michigan district seated Richard T. Frankenstein, one of five former vice presidents whose jobs were abolished and three men regarded as his supporters to its places on the board.

Election of an executive board with a "Left wing" majority reversed the previous trend of the convention which lined up with a program and international officers supported by the C. I. O.

Ousted from the board were eight former members, at least five of whom were aligned with the "middle-of-the-road" or "conservative" bloc in the union. One former member was not a candidate for re-election.

Roland J. Thomas, re-elected "independent" president, and Secretary-Treasurer George F. Addes automatically became members of the board.

Her Plan to Take Albania Is Told to the Yugoslavs

Aim to Frighten Slavs,
Greeks Out of Anglo-

TO OCCUPY COAST

New Rumor Albania May Offer Resistance to Italian Landing

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia.—(AP)—Well-informed sources here Thursday said the impending Italian military occupation of Albania was meant as a warning to both Yugoslavia and Greece to stay out of the Anglo-French anti-aggression bloc.

Italy's Action may involve only the occupation of Albania's coastline for the purpose of hermetically sealing the Adriatic, the same source said.

The Yugoslav government, officially informed of Italy's intentions, professed to be calm, but the people are nervous.

Italian Cruiser Arrives

TIRANA.—(AP)—An Italian cruiser and two destroyers arrived at Durazzo, Albania, Thursday as Albania feverishly discussed reports of an imminent Italian occupation.

Many Albanian reservists have been mobilized, and 20 truckloads of arms were sent Wednesday to Valona, southern port of Albania. There is a feeling in some diplomatic quarters that the Albanian government might try to resist any landing by the Italians.

Mussolini to Adriatic
ROME, Italy.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini flew early Thursday to the Adriatic coast at Ancona, where he reviewed planes and new recruits.

The premier piloted a tri-motored bomber to the airport near a point that overlooks the sea toward Albania, as rumors of an impending Italian military occupation ran through Europe.

The Fascist press proclaimed Friday is "ready for anything at any moment," although the newspapers were silent concerning Albania.

ROME, Italy.—(AP)—Intense negotiations between Italy and Albania were reported Wednesday night as reports spread through Rome that Italian troops were ready to occupy Albania at any moment.

Expectations of an imminent Italian move in the Adriatic were heightened by a conference at Innsbruck, Germany, between General Pariani, chief of Italy's General Staff, and Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command of the German armed forces.

Though foreign circles heard an important announcement might be made before morning, there was no official confirmation of any impending action against Albania across the Adriatic.

Inquiries at Brindisi, where Italian troops are concentrated at the heel of the Italian boot, only 80 miles by sea from Albania, brought the reply that no soldiers had left the port.

Special importance was attached to the Italian-German military talks because of Pariani's connections with Albania. He not only is commander of the Italian army as under secretary of war but formerly was chief military adviser to the Albanian army. He was in Albania from 1927 to 1932 and was considered one of King Zog's closest Italian advisers.

Russia Holds Out
LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain stated off a political crisis at home Wednesday night and carried still further measures to throw an "anti-aggression ring" around Germany.

British officials watched closely reports of an impending military occupation of Albania by Italy. They admitted the possibility that Italy was working in harmony with Berlin in a new axis stroke intended to thwart Britain's "halt Hitler" plans.

Polish quarters said that the British-Polish mutual defense alliance against aggression "became effective" Wednesday after Polish Foreign Minister Beck, Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, had held their third talk in two days. Chamberlain was expected to make an announcement Thursday in the House of Commons.

The impression grew in London that Soviet Russia definitely was opposed to the British program of defensive alliances by which Poland would be a keystone.

The Way Of the World

Laugh, and the world laughs with you; Weep, and you weep alone. For the brave old earth must borrow its mirth— But has trouble enough of its own. Sing and the hills will answer; Sigh, it is lost on the air; The echoes rebound to a joyful sound And shrink from voicing care. Rejoice, an dmen will seek you, Grieve, and they turn and go; They want full measure of your pleasure— But they do not want your woe. Feast, and your halls are crowded; Fast, and the world goes by. Forget and forgive—it helps you to live. But no man can help you die; There's room in the halls of pleasure For a long and lordly train. For, one by one, we must all march on through the narrow aisle of pain.

For Good Friday prayer service on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church, Mrs. Ernest Graham, program leader, announced her subject for the program, "Seeing the Multitude In India," and opened her program with a very helpful devotional, using as her theme: "Even the Least of These." During the program period, Mrs. Alva Reynerson played "The Holy City" as a piano solo and Mrs. George Dodd gave an interesting article, entitled: "And So He Went and Told His Brethren." The hostesses served a delightful ice course with cake.

Kolb who spoke most interestingly on "Developing Character Through Health" stressing that the healthy child in mind and body was the happy child followed by an open discussion. Kroger Employees to Get Vacations

13,127 Employees Will Be Given at Least One Week's Leave

Every Kroger employee with as much as a year of service will be given at least one week of vacation this year, W. C. Smashey, Little Rock branch manager, said Thursday.

Liberalization of the grocery firm's vacation policy this year through reduction of the service requirement to one year, will add at least 2,400 employees to the list, boosting the total to 13,127, according to Mr. Smashey.

He explained that Albert H. Morrill, Kroger president, inaugurated a vacation plan for store employees in 1931, authorizing a week's leave for managers that year.

Later this was extended to two weeks for managers with five or more years of service and one week for clerks with two or more years' service with the company.

In 1934 the Kroger company led the industry by giving vacations to hourly-paid warehouse, factory and transportation department workers.

This year the service requirements for both store clerks and hourly-paid employees was cut to one year.

Legion Meeting to Be Held Later This Month

The regular meeting of the American Legion has been postponed until a later date in this month, Cecil Weaver announced Thursday morning.

He said the legion and auxiliary would meet jointly at a date to be announced later and at that time child welfare work will be discussed.

The Clergy Put in Office in Tuesday's Municipal Election

WASHINGTON, Ark. —(Special)—In the municipal election held here Tuesday, the clergy won by a substantial majority, with four local pastors being selected for places on the town council. They are: Dr. J. C. Williams of the Presbyterian church; Rev. G. W. Robertson, pastor of the Methodist; Rev. W. H. Stingley, Baptist pastor; and Rev. J. Oscar Gold, Methodist minister. Other electeds are Mr. J. F. Dugger, possibly selected as "the nearest man to a preacher" among the others appearing on the ballot.

Unopposed for mayor was present Mayor A. P. Delony, who got 53 of the 57 votes cast. Likewise, unopposed for recorder, W. H. Etter, was scratched four times and got only 53 of the 57 votes cast. In view of the fact that you can't be mayor of a small town, or publisher of its weekly newspaper indefinitely without pecking some one, this may be a pretty good record at that.

The marshal has heretofore been appointed by the council and has not appeared on the ballot for selection by the voters. However, 27 votes were in the name of the present marshal, John Velvin on the blank line left for voting on a marshal. No opposing votes for marshal were cast.

With a total of 57 votes cast, quite a bit more interest was displayed in this local election than in any other of recent years. Usually only 20 to 30 voters are sufficiently interested in a town election to go out and vote.

Election officials were ladies of the town Mrs. J. M. May, Mrs. Evelyn Hubbard, Mrs. Frank May, Mrs. Lee Holt, Mrs. T. B. Haworth and Mrs. Lat Moses.

Out of a Sarong--But Not for Long!-- a Hollywood Tragedy in Three Acts

ACT I
Director: Stop the camera! There's something wrong with this picture! What's Lamour doing in a dress?

ACT II
Dorothy: No, no, a thousand times no! Anything but that! I've sworn off sarongs for life!

ACT III
Director: Ah, that's better! We've got the moon, we've got the man, we've got the sarong. Lights, action, camera!

RAISING A FAMILY

By Olive Roberts Barton

Inconsistency Can't Shake Child's Trust in Parents

In spite of their sometimes trying ways, and their tempers and disobediences, little children hold to an almost indestructible trust in their parents that deserves more praise than it gets.

You see, we do lead them around by the nose a lot. Their days are filled with "do's" and "don'ts" that must seem to them to fly in the face of all reason. Just because they are little is no reason for their thin grait. It is no reason for their thinking that the ideas they hold are not as good as our.

Yet they accept much direction and discipline that would drive an adult crazy.

Two small children went walking with their parents. The walk was narrow, so mother said, "You two walk ahead of Daddy and me so we won't step on you, but don't go too far or you may get lost."

So Nancy and Nick went ahead. Then one day Mother took them shopping. "You must walk beside me and never wander away. Keep close, that's the way."

"But you said that children should walk ahead, Mummy. Why can't we walk in front? Is it because you want us for company?"

"Well, yes. I need company. But it is very important for both of you to do as I say."

Another time they all went riding in the car. Both children wanted to sit up front beside Daddy.

"No, you might bother Daddy when he is driving. I am going to sit with him and you children will be safe in the back seat."

"Can't you sit beside me, Mummy?" asked generous Nancy, "and let Nicky sit beside Daddy? Nicky says he will be quiet. He was quiet with Uncle Bill."

"No, sit where I tell you. You are better in back."

"But you said that little children should be ahead so their parents could see them. And next you said we should stay beside you. And now we have to be in back. Why do you change it so much, Mummy?"

"Because no two times are exactly alike, dear. You will just have to take my word for it."

Nancy and Nick thought it all very odd, but they did not make too much of it. When their parents seemed to contradict themselves, they accepted it.

Nick, for instance, was allowed to go down one block, alone, to see Billy, but he was not permitted to go the same distance in the other direction to see Bobby. His mother did not like to explain that there was a dog of uncertain temper down that way.

This is merely a sample to show how children may be confused. It pays to explain many reasons to them, but it cannot always be done. Besides they should learn to comply.

But do give them credit for their faith.

The development of a definitely sweet-scented gladiolus was hailed in 1939 as an outstanding achievement of horticulture.

Only 1,799 American farmers officially went into bankruptcy in the 1937-38 fiscal year, a drop of 27 percent from the previous year.

Kentuckians used 4,670,000 more gallons of gasoline in 1938 than in 1937.

THREE SURE WAYS TO CUT CAR EXPENSE

1. SAVE ON BILLS AND LOSSES CAUSED BY CARBON DEPOSITS
(Lion Naturalube Actually REMOVES Hard Carbon)
2. SAVE ON REPAIR BILLS CAUSED BY EXCESSIVE WEAR
(Lion Naturalube Has Stronger Natural Protective Film)
3. SAVE ON GASOLINE BILLS
(Lion Knix-Knox Gives More Miles Per Dollar)

HOW NATURALUBE SAVES BY REMOVING CARBON AND PREVENTING EXCESSIVE WEAR . . .

Lion Naturalube, the new-type motor oil, brings you the perfect combination for cutting car expense: (1) the ability to remove hard carbon deposits from pistons, rings, valves, and spark plugs—(2) a stronger natural protective-film. Unlike oils of other types, Naturalube does not cause power-loss and excessive gasoline consumption by forming hard carbon deposits. Because of its ability to remove hard carbon deposits, Naturalube restores power, reduces gasoline consumption and saves the cost of carbon removal jobs. Another important money-saving feature is Naturalube's stronger, natural protective-film which prevents excessive friction wear—the chief cause of expensive repairs.

HOW KNIX-KNOX GASOLINE SAVES BY GIVING GREATER MILEAGE . . .

STORIES IN STAMPS

When the Red Cross Started at Geneva

The horrors of the battle at Solferino first gave Henry Dunant the idea of a permanent relief service for soldiers. By 1863 he was able to enlist the interest of several nations in a meeting at Geneva to establish such a body. The convention drew up 10 articles and prescribed a uniform and "a white arm badge with a red cross in it."

So was the seed of the Red Cross Society sown. It was to grow rapidly. The next year, 1864, most of the nations of Europe and the United States, represented unofficially, met in Geneva again. This time the convention drew up the famous 1864 "Geneva Treaty" which wrote the rights of the wounded and of those who succor them into the laws of nations.

These rights included the neutrality of the medical corps, the wounded, the ambulances, military hospitals, personnel, and even the civilians in the war zone rendering aid to the wounded. They were declarations that were to go far toward bringing humanity to the battlefield.

The 1864 convention also adopted the official Red Cross flag, a red cross on a white ground. These were the Swiss national colors in reverse. They were adopted because of the convention in Geneva.

The Geneva convention is commemorated by a current set of stamps from Finland, one of which is reproduced above. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

3.2 Beer Out, Liquor O. K. Ohio Town Dry — No, It's Wet!

H. L. Fetzner of the LaGrange restaurant meets an alcoholically ironical situation by drawing a beer.

By NEA Service
LaGrange, — The driest humor of the year was revealed by the joke that this village of 486 people played on itself at an election.
Dry forces, "completely surprised and bitterly disappointed," are adding it all up this way:
A local option election last November was won by the dry, but after the votes had been counted, it was discovered that the proposition on which they had voted applied only to 3.2 beer. So 3.2 beer was out.
Rev. Karl Darkey of the M.E. Church led the fight for a special election. Citizens voted on five questions with results as follows:
Shall sale of any spirituous beverage be permitted? Yes, 140; No 110.

Paying for Electricity
As the construction of rural electrification lines throughout the state nears completion, farm families are concerned with ways and means of meeting the regular monthly cash payments for electricity.

These demands which will be made on the budget of the farm family subscribing to rural electrification may be lessened by wise planning, according to Mrs. Ida A. Fenton, extension economist, home management, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

Some plan, Mrs. Fenton says, should be developed in the family council for financing the venture. A special money-earning crop or setting aside a definite percentage of the cream checks or egg money may be the feasible plan.

Just what the plan should be must be determined in the family council. Every family member should have an opportunity to present an idea and assist in developing the plan. This almost insures the success of the plan, as the family becomes a team, all playing the game to win.

Some families plan to pay for electricity through the sale of livestock and livestock products, others by the sale of timbers.

An estimate of the number of light outlets, switches, and convenience outlets should be made and an estimate of the cost of wiring may then be obtained. Add to this the cost of fuse box, bulbs, fixtures, and appliances or equipment, and the estimated budget then becomes a workable budget. The family may then make detailed plans for earning the required amount of cash and plan for the date when pieces of equipment may be purchased. Too little spent for wiring the house may mean that the family will not be able to realize full value from the equipment as its efficiency is affected by the size of wire used on the branch circuit where it is attached.

Convenience outlets are the only reasonable and satisfactory outlet for the use of appliances, according to Mrs. Fenton. If strict economy must be practiced, then apply it to ceiling lights and switches and substitute table lights attached to a convenience outlet.

A "check list for wiring" is an aid in planning the wiring system.

Dairy Methods

With the increased interest in dairying which has marked the progress of the live-at-home program, Arkansas farm wives are becoming more and more concerned with the proper care and sanitary handling of dairy products.

In response to this interest, V. L. Gregg, extension dairyman, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, offers a few pertinent pointers.

"Shall spirituous beverage be sold from a state store? Yes, 121; No, 120. Shall wine be sold by the package? Yes, 140; No, 110."

With the result that, as a result of last November's vote, 3.2 beer is still banned, while everything else is as legal as kissing your wife.

they were sending one out!"

He had blurted it much as a college boy would blurt something at a co-ed with whom he was quarreling. And Miss Jordan had answered in kind.

"All right, maybe I will!" she had snapped. "Emergency is simply getting a hard job done promptly. You two men have been trying for a year. And Luis Barro is still called the Smuggler King of the Mexican Border. Only a few nights ago he sent over a dozen aliens and a shipment of narcotics, while you hid peacefully in the flags 10 miles down the river!"

"We had a false tip!" Hope put in, pleadingly, watching her blue eyes.

"It's your business to get accurate information before acting," she declared. "Isn't it now?"

One word had led to another. Talk, talk, talk; details, details. When Officers Kildare and Starr had dutifully reported their failure again to capture Luis Barro, worst of all border smugglers, an extremely busy department chief in Washington had sent his efficient secretary out for a first-hand report. (She had carried out more than one assignment like this!) And the officers had dared her to demonstrate her efficiency!

They had dared her impulsively, as boys would, hence they were alarmed when she accepted. There had been a new prisoner in the city jail, named Salazar, in whose pockets had been some cocaine wrapped much like Luis Barro's man?

SHE had left Messrs. Starr and Kildare looking as dejected as normally happy young officers could possibly look. She would go see the prisoner Salazar herself. Any lead—any kind of lead whatsoever—might be the one tip which would result in capture of Luis Barro! "You must use brains, gentlemen, as well as brawn, in combating criminals! We are not afraid of Luis Barro! I—I will go see this Salazar myself, since you dare me to do something!"

She had talked much more than good judgment dictated, she realized now, but she had to go on. She hesitated just a moment outside the gray police station, then went boldly in.

concerning butter production and storage.

The first step in making butter of good keeping quality, says Mr. Gregg, is to select fresh sweet cream and then pasteurize it by heating to between 145 and 150 degrees F. and holding it at that temperature for 30 minutes.

For pasteurizing, the cream may be put into tall cans or pails which are set in a large kettle partly filled with water. The cream should be stirred frequently while being heated. It should then be cooled as quickly as possible to 50 degrees F. or lower, and held at that point for at least 3 hours before being churned, so as to insure that the butter granules will be firm.

All utensils that are to come in contact with the cream or butter, such as the stirring rod or spoon, churn, worker, paddles, and jars, should be cleaned with a dairy cleanser and rinsed thoroughly with boiling water a short time before they are used.

The butter-making process is the same for sweet or sour cream. The more churning temperature may be as low as 50 degrees or as high as 60 degrees.

Before washing the butter, the temperature of the water should be taken. It should be about the same as that of the cream. Use twice as much water as cream churned. After the buttermilk has drained off, one-half the wash water is poured into the churn. The cover of the churn is then replaced and the churn given about four rapid revolutions. The water is drawn off and the washing repeated.

After the salt is added, the butter should be worked just enough to distribute the salt evenly. Excessive working destroys the waxlike texture of the butter. It also injures the

Prothro Voices His Woe About Phillies

"Looks Like Long, Hard Summer," Says Pilot of Team

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Dr. James Thompson, Prothro, manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, made the majority opinion unanimous Wednesday when he voiced what everybody else has been thinking about his Phillies all spring.

"It looks like a long, hard summer," the Memphis dentist-East Arkansas native asserted in a discussion of what his team wouldn't do this season.

Here for an exhibit game which was cancelled because of rain, with the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern Association, Prothro still was able to smile somewhat ruefully, however. He offered the Philadelphia fans one ray of hope. He said he didn't think the Phillies would permanently remain in the cellar.

Baseball's number one hero to Little Rock fans because of his success with the Travelers before taking the helm of the Philadelphia club, Prothro said he would use the same system that lifted the Travelers from the depths of the second division to pennant championship contenders.

"I am going to attempt to build in Philadelphia just as I did in Little Rock—by bringing in young players and keeping the best of them," he said. "It may take longer than it expects, but one of these days the Phils are going to start the climb out of the National League cellar."

He admits frankly the climb won't start this year.

"I don't see a chance to get out of last place right now, unless, of course, I can make a trade which will strengthen my club materially before the season opens," he said. "The Phils won only 43 games a year ago and while I hope to better that mark, it will take a lot of bettering to escape last place."

100 YEARS OF BASEBALL

No. 35—Growth of the Game

Baseball has mushroomed in growth. In 1874 Al G. Spalding engineered the first invasion to foreign shores when he took a picked group of players to England. Modern tours by major leaguers have done much to popularize the sport in Japan, the Philippines, England and elsewhere.

History of the National Game Told in Sketches by Art Kreh

The Japanese have made great strides and their players are second only to Americans in skill. Crowds of 50,000 at a big game are not uncommon.

Radio was quick to recognize baseball's widespread appeal. Broadcasting in turn has done much to increase fan interest.

More than 25,000,000 people witnessed league baseball games in America last year—either in professional, collegiate, or amateur competition. Most observers feel, however, that the future of the game rests on the foundation of sandlot baseball which usually is the first step the youth of the country take.

Concluding: Baseball's Centennial Celebration.

What Season Is This, Anyhow?

Hubbell's Arm Trouble Not Believed Serious

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—Manager Bill Terry had reason to be happy Wednesday after receiving an optimistic report on the condition of Carl Hubbell, the New York Giants southpaw ace.

In a telephone conversation from Memphis, Dr. J. Spencer Speed told Terry the screwball hurler's trouble with his left shoulder was nothing serious. Dr. Speed said he found evidence of a "pull" in one of the shoulder muscles and a suspected tear in the tissues surrounding the muscle, but nothing that would not yield rapidly to heat treatment and rest.

ooter of Benton, and Ralph James, Jenks (Okla.) fullback. All played last fall. Dominic Feely, 200-pound fullback, has been called to his home in Cody, Wyo., by the illness of his father and may not return.

Coach Murphy expressed satisfaction with the showing of two tackles, Dick Moore and Freeman Stone, both from Hope. Three men can play center: J. T. Cogswell, veteran of Fordyce; Ray Trussell, Hot Springs freshman, who weighs nearly 200 pounds, and Ed Confer, six-foot-three of Saluria, Ala. All played here last fall. Confer was a guard.

Udell Bunce, Russell Peek, Percy Ramsey and other 1938 ends are available. His biggest needs are quarterbacks and guards, Coach Murphy said.

Strugs and Dock Stephens, the latter a Mergulian, are back, showing class as passers and sturgis also is a good punter.

The retail value of 58 representative foods in the United States dropped nine per cent in 1938, but still remained well above both the pre-war and recent depression levels.

Dykes Battles Disaster That All But Wrecks White Sox Team

By JOHN BEEKMAN
NEA Service Special Correspondent

PASADENA, Calif.—Jimmy Dykes, the man with the cigar, who earns his living as manager of the Chicago White Sox, isn't putting himself on the spot this year.

The Pale Horse, all shot by injuries, limped in sixth last season, and Dykes isn't sure they'll do better in this race.

"New York, the Red Sox, Cleveland and Detroit are still in the league and it will take a lot of ball playing to push them out of the first division," Dykes pointed out.

"I'll be satisfied if we can break in there somewhere."

The club is in better shape generally than it was a year ago at this time but the misfortune of Monty Stratton, who lost a leg when blood poisoning followed a gunshot wound, and absence of Jackie Hayes, recuperating from a knee operation, leave a couple of tough spots to fill.

Pitchers are the No. 1 worry, but the catching situation is no less a problem.

Replacing Sewell Man-Sized Job

Dykes is having trouble replacing Luke Sewell, the regular receiver who was sold to Brooklyn, George Rensa, who caught 57 games last season and hit .248 appears to have first call. Norman Schluter, Mike Trush and Ken Vilvestri are after the other two berths, with Schluter the less likely to succeed. Vilvestri came up from St. Paul and has been doing a nice job in training.

Veterans John Whitehead, Thornton Lee, Bill Dietrich and John Rigney, none of whom won more than 13 games last year, will get most of the starting pitching assignments. Vic Frazier, up from St. Paul, where he won 17 and dropped 7, will be lost for some time as a result of a skull fracture received when he was hit by a thrown ball.

Dietrich turned up with an ailing arm just year and went on the voluntary retirement list but looks like the goods again.

Ageing Red Lyons will start a fair share of games but he needs lots of rest between assignments. Clint Brown, troubled with a bad wrist last year, got his hand in the way of a pitched ball in an early season game but came out of it okay and will handle the relief burden.

John Knott, with the club last season, and Art Herring, another St. Paul graduate, are certain to be carried with the tenth spot going to Jess Dobernich, George Cline or Thomas Fleming, a pretty hot lot.

McNair to Fill in For Injured Hayes

The infield lines up with Marvin Owen at third, Luke Appling, short; Eric McNair, second, and Joe Kuhel on the initial sack—all in all a pretty fair bunch.

Hayes will replace McNair if and when his knee heals. Dykes, the handy man, however, and either Al Bejma or Mervyn Conners will handle the utility roles. Bejma will probably stay, as Conners can be let out for another year.

Steinbacher hit .331 last year to lead the club and beat out Gerald Walker, who along with John Rosenthal, will be carried as utility men.

Rupert Thompson will most likely be dropped.

That's the 1939 White Sox and unless Dykes gets some help in the pitching department you can forget about them this year as far as championships are concerned.

By All Figures, Dorothy Lamour Is Hollywood's Shapeliest

By MARIAN YOUNG
Hollywood's "figure" is the most important of its assets, and Dorothy Lamour is the most shapeliest of them all. She is the only actress who has won the title of "Miss America" and "Miss Hollywood" and who has been named "the most beautiful woman in the world" by the nation's top-ranking authorities on beauty. She is the only actress who has won the title of "Miss America" and "Miss Hollywood" and who has been named "the most beautiful woman in the world" by the nation's top-ranking authorities on beauty.

Hollywood's shapeliest screen star, Dorothy Lamour—"all curves and every curve perfect."

They admit, these experts who are the world's top-ranking authorities on beauty, that lucky lighting effects and specially-designed costumes make many a figure more alluring on the screen than it actually is. But not Dorothy Lamour's. She is lovelier than the camera shows her to be. According to spring 1939 standards of beauty, Dorothy Lamour's figure is ideal. She's all curves, and every curve is absolutely perfect. Small-waisted and high-chested, with a beautiful rounded hipline, slim thighs, handsome legs and slender ankles, she's the artist's ideal of the feminine form divine.

Miss Lamour herself gives Jim Davis, head of Paramount's gymnasium and health studio, a great deal of credit for her perfect dimensions. "I think three exercises—one for hips another for waistline and one for the chest muscles—keep my figure in good shape," she smilingly explains. Dorothy explained. "The routine for hips is pretty simple," she went on. "You simply lie on the floor with arms folded. Keeping ankles together, lift feet about four inches upward away from the floor and, at the same time, lift head and shoulder lightly. This puts most of your weight directly on the hips. "Now roll over to the right until you are facing the floor, then once over again until you are facing the ceiling. Now two rolls to the left. Repeat ten times the first day, twelve the second, fourteen the third and so on until you are rolling over and over fifty times a day. Remember to keep head and feet off the floor as you roll."

To keep her waistline slim, Miss Lamour does a set of stretching exercises. "She reaches toward the ceiling, bends forward to touch the floor, meanwhile keeping knees stiff, bends to the left, to the right, then backward as far as possible. The last step is most important, she thinks. To strengthen the pectoral muscles which support the breasts and to keep her chestline high, firm and youthful, Miss Lamour recommends an especially simple exercise. Here are directions: Hold hands at chest level in front of you with elbows up, fingers spread apart with fingertips touching. Now quickly press fingertips together. Not like the figures of many actresses, which are alluring mainly by grace of trick lighting and special costumes, Dorothy Lamour's is actually lovelier in real life than it appears on the screen.

Easter Finds Holy Land Still Bereft of Peace

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON—While millions of Christians all over this troubled globe are, figuratively speaking, turning their eyes towards Palestine in the dawn of another Easter, that little land which saw the birth and work and high deeds of the Prince of Peace, once again knows no peace.

In the hills and ravines lurk Arabs with carbines ready to shoot down Jews. On their farms, in their orchards and in their towns, Jewish settlers are watchful against ever-present dangers. Trying to keep the peace, the British government has 20,000 troops constantly on alert. Palestine has proved to be the insoluble problem. John Bull promised to shoot down Jews. On their farms, in their orchards and in their towns, Jewish settlers are watchful against ever-present dangers. Trying to keep the peace, the British government has 20,000 troops constantly on alert.

Palestine has proved to be the insoluble problem. John Bull promised to shoot down Jews. On their farms, in their orchards and in their towns, Jewish settlers are watchful against ever-present dangers. Trying to keep the peace, the British government has 20,000 troops constantly on alert.

Only a few weeks ago Zionist Jews Palestinian Arabs and delegates from neighboring Arab states sat in conference with Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald. It was hoped this young man, son of a former Premier, would be able to bring about some agreement, as he did with President de Valera about Ireland. But he found both sides obdurate.

The Arabs were aflame with their vision of an Arabic Near East. The Jews, dismayed at the increasing anti-Semitism in Europe, insisted that the solemn promise made to them by the late Arthur Balfour, when Foreign Secretary of the British government, should be kept.

Then MacDonald submitted to both sides the government's plan. It was based upon the hope that Arabs and Jews would work together to build up Palestine.

These two pictures illustrate how both Jews and Arabs present an ever-growing problem to the vigilant British military in the Holy Land. Above: British troops drive Jews back into their homes in Jerusalem during a street disturbance. Below: Other British soldiers stand guard, with fixed bayonets, over a captured band of Arabs.

It looked toward an eventual independent state bound by treaty with Britain as are Egypt and Iraq. It was suggested there might be cautions on the Swiss system, in which Arabs in some and Jews in others would enjoy complete local autonomy. There would be, of course, a transitional period, depending for its length on how well Jews and Arabs got on together. There would be an Advisory and an Executive Council in which both races would be represented, the supreme authority resting with the British High Commissioner until such time as the state was turned over to its people.
The Jewish delegates rejected the plan outright. In a day when Jews needed a place of refuge, they could not consent to a scheme which would heavily restrict immigration into Palestine. Furthermore they could not consent to a plan which aimed at making the ruling element in Palestine forever a definite Arab majority.

The Palestine Arabs objected to a long time limit before the country became independent and also objected to continued Jewish immigration even if heavily restricted, and also to continued sales of lands to Jews.
The British government will now take drastic action and impose its own plan. On balance, the Jews will be the losers and Arabs the winners. There is world political reason for this.
Deeply grieved and disheartened though the Jews may be over England's action, the government believes they will be constrained to remain friendly to a great democracy.
The Arabs have no such constraint and the Arabs are subject to insidious propaganda from Germany and Italy. It would suit the purposes of the two dictators, in case they had a conflict with France and England, to set the Arab world aflame.
Independent Arab or Moslem states like Iraq, Iran, Egypt and Saudi Arabia have a lively interest in the fate of their kinsmen in Palestine. Britain therefore will feel itself compelled to lean backwards to appease Palestinian Arabs.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking grose poisons and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 5 pounds of waste.
Frequent or nearly painless urination with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
